General Comment

In the strongest possible terms, I protest the idea of involving AI / LLM in the United States Government.

AI is a speculative market product widely distrusted and despised by a majority of Americans. By definition, it is trained on stolen, illegally acquired data, including copyrighted material. It produces nothing of value, does horrific damage to the environment, and threatens the jobs of thousands if not millions of Americans in creative fields. AI and LLMs have no place in the American government, and allowing AI companies immunity from prosecution would be an irreversible disaster for the country and the planet.
