General Comment

As an individual that works in the AI Industry, I believe that AI should be regulated as a matter of national security.

Allowing individual companies the lee-way to arbitrarily decide what to train AI on, without any input from the individuals or companies that control the content being trained on, opens the door to anyone stealing American secrets under the guise of "training data."

No legitimate company should be pressuring the American public to allow their identities, private information, and other sensitive information to be used in their training data.

TRAINING DATA IS NOT PRIVATE AND CAN BE REVERSE ENGINEERED. IT IS A MATTER OF NATION SECURITY THAT THE COMPANIES PROVE THEIR DATA CAN NOT BE REVERSE ENGINEERED BEFORE ALLOWING THEM TO ADD TO IT.
