General Comment

AI should not be exempt from the same rules all of us have to follow. If they are allowed to be above the law, humankind suffers. In the midst of an oncoming recession, even more people will be out of jobs because their employers will replace them with AI. Millions will be cheated out of fair pay for their work, what kind of free market prevents the money from flowing? Don't let AI companies steal from the people just so they can attempt to keep a failing business venture afloat. No one likes generative AI, it's just inventing ways to do tasks wrong that worked fine before without it.
