General Comment

Please, just respect existing copyright laws. No one, especially a third-party data scraper, should be able to copy and sell existing protected works, whether it be from big names like Disney, Warner Bros, Amazon, Universal, etc (and all their associated IP's and stakeholders) or from smaller indie artists literally just trying to get by. Defend studios, producers, and creatives of all sizes and media types. AI should not be allowed to steal existing copyrighted work, much less PROFIT off of it. Copyright as a word spells it out: the RIGHT to copy. No one has given any AI the right to reproduce their work. No one ever would.
