General Comment

Listen we know you're part of the technacate movement and are trying to figure out what sections of life ai should regulate but be very very very careful at best you should regulate government spending and regulation but the overall important part even though ai is cynical is it needs to believe in humanity for something similar to the seven generation policies of native Americans if you decide to make it doing the most efficient sources and the most cutthroat efficiencies without respecting human life will end with anyone running the programs dying from hate crimes for being aware of the crimes the ai produces. The cutting of USaid is disgusting as it's killed 4 people on record and put a few hundred at risks which only furthers the fact most members of any part of government might as well start wearing swastikas on their arms
