General Comment

I work in the film industry. AI has been trained off the labor of writers, artists, and craftspeople, and on copyrighted works. It will take millions of jobs away from workers in every creative industry. These workers deserve to profit off their own work and craft they've spent years honing. We need strong guardrails so that AI is only used as a tool by humans and not to replace them. Innovation of generative AI has already come as a direct result of copyright theft. We cannot allow the private sector to continue stealing work unchecked and with no compensation to the creators of the work on which AI is trained.
