General Comment

To whom it may concern,

There is no benefit whatsoever to sacrifice the works, livelihoods, and efforts of all of our artists of innumerable stripes across the United States in the hope of making a “use case” for AI. By cutting out the legs of our nation-worth of artists, millions strong, by subjecting all of their works to corporate use and greed is a sickening prospect. Destroying livelihoods just for yet another rug-pull of the tech industry, solely meant to enrich the few under the guise of “making our country stronger and more competitive” is a perversion of our values as a nation and only emboldens not only our descent into placating the thieves and the crooks, but our decline on the world stage within the arts. Support those who actually CREATE, not a renamed LLM whose sole business model relies on lies and destroying hundreds of thousands of jobs.
