General Comment

As an artist, this initiative needs to be reconsidered. All major AI providers have used stolen artwork, photography, music, video, and basically any other form of media to power their machines, with no recourse for the millions of people affected.

Not only that, but these models will put creatives out of work in favor of products that are just inferior to those with a human touch.

The worst thing about this plan, however, is the potential for misinformation and disinformation. With the improvement of the technology, media that intentionally misleads people is being created en masse, such as fake historical footage. This doesn't even factor in AI's use for more nefarious purposes like in the cases of revenge porn.

All in all, please reconsider the position on AI.
