General Comment

This is a very bad idea for the American public. As it is, AI has already done significant damage to the public's ability to access accurate and verifiable information and this request will only worsen this. Many Americans have requested information from openAI that is probably false. Additionally, AI is taking jobs from every industry and this will quicken that process, stealing information from the American public so that it can replace them with cheaper labor that will provide exceedingly lower quality work. This action will impact every American, replacing their jobs and spreading misinformation quickly and efficiently.
