General Comment

Generative AI threatens the livelihoods of millions of Americans and should be regulated and restricted to protect them. Once this genie is out of the bottle, there's no putting it back in, and we can't afford to get it wrong. The profit motive of tech companies who show disdain for artists and those their technologies will affect can't be placed above the wellbeing of the people and the art that has helped make America the diverse, influential, inspiring nation it is.
