General Comment

This bill is an all-around bad idea. Signing this bill will only give AI companies the ability to freely steal from any and all Americans, allowing them to earn profits through blatant theft and going completely against copyright and plagiarism laws, which could even embolden them to ignore other laws altogether. The AI industry has been costing companies who use it hundreds of billions of dollars by making empty promises that cannot realistically be achieved for many years and stealing intellectual property to pass off as their own, all just to earn meager profits for a select few higher ups in those companies, and no one else. Not only will this allow them to legally steal anything from both the American people and American companies, but this will also be a terrible deal for the economy as well, stealing money from taxpayer's wallets to fund projects that will never progress anywhere. If you do actually care about the well-being and future of the American people, you will reject this bill to keep the AI industry in line.
