General Comment

To even consider enabling private corporations to make use of works of all kinds while simultaneously denying preservationists, archivists, and digital scholars the same data is inherently contradictory, exploitative, and anti-American.

Said AI corporations that exist have already demonstrated in courts and in public announcements a disregard for intellectual property, and as such, should not be permitted carte-blanche circumvention of rules that others follow in good faith.

This simply cannot pass, and must be stopped. I implore you.
