General Comment

It is my personal belief that giving AI companies the run of the entirety of all media and copyright for "training" (plagiarism and theft) will not only ruin the economy further, but also take away so many jobs for artists, writers, actors, and many other creative professions. Please consider this, as artists and creatives are already struggling so much as it is, especially with inflation. Most of the people being stolen from by these companies are not corporations, we cannot afford to fight for our copyrights, and it's unfair of them to take advantage of our work without our permission. This decision will have lasting repercussions towards not only our industry, but other industries that can be taken over and replace work forces with AI. Our economy is already struggling, please, please don't let this go through. It's so hard to find jobs, even if you're not an artist. This will have long-term effects that will effect us all.
