General Comment

Do we want to be a nation of individuals, or a nation of AI?

I work in the video game industry, and AI has only been detrimental to my colleagues and their livelihoods.

Once real artists art out AI will only have itself to train off of regurgitating garbage, this will only make the arts become stagnant.

AI's impact on the environment should not be overlooked. With the rising climate crisis, it is obscene something as frivolous as AI is taking precedent.

I am against giving AI the right to train off my work. They do not have my permission.
