General Comment

AI is absolutely terrible, inaccurate, and a threat to all human creativity. Giving Big Tech a blank check to steal the work of literally everyone to use up massive energy resources only to end up with a flawed, inaccurate product is insanity. No one wants AI, no one voluntarily uses it, it is just thrust on us by a tech industry that has invested far too much money into a product that is NEVER going to be the utopian tool that they promised. Now, their last hail-mary is to convince the US government to invest in this money sink-hole at the expense of every single human being on earth. This is a GRIFT. Do not fall for it.
