General Comment

No company working on or with AI should be allowed to steal and profit off the work of creative Americans, myself included.

The hype behind AI has largely been overstated to drive up the market and we've already started to see the damage that this manufactured hype can and probably will continue to have on our economy.

Leaving companies working with AI unregulated and unaccountable, will ultimately increase the potential harm it poses on the economy, American culture, and it will set a dangerous precedent for years to culture.
