General Comment

As a working artist and designer, it is not “innovation” for an “AI” program to take images generated by human artists and regurgitate poor pastiches thereof. Rather, it is an attempt to create an economic model that cuts out artists, by removing their ownership of and control over their work and handing it over to “AI” companies, who produce nothing that is not derivative. Do not negate artists’ copyright for they sake of a handout to snake oil merchants who claim to be “innovators.”
