General Comment

We care deeply about intellectual property in this country, as we should. So it is only natural to extend its protection to artists and their works. AI that steals and “learns” from the hard work of artists does not protect the artists’ IP. In fact, it violates and endangers it. Therefore, any AI that profits off the exploitation of artists must be severely limited, if not outright banned. This is the only way to protect the integrity and IP of all artists throughout the nation.
