General Comment

How can we allow a corporate personhood to steal from citizens? Citizens must be paid a fair price for the use of their materials and opt in to the practice of training. Otherwise it sets a precedents that copyright is dead. Ownership is dead. If corporations can steal from individuals then corporations can steal from corporations. I can form a corporation and steal all the intellectual property i want in the name of training . How can this practice be sustainable? No intellectual property will be able to retain protections. The rights of citizens to pursue a living and create capitalistic wealth will be effectively stripped. This is against free market principles. This is anarchy and lawlessness and will destabilize capitalist growth in the economy. Seizing property from the creators and transferring ownership to a pirate. It's literally piracy. I urge a reverse course from this ill-considered plan.
