General Comment

No one should be allowed to steal, no matter how profitable it would be for them. No one should be allowed to steal, no matter how less burdensome their business would be if they could. I can't believe we're seriously considering "But it would be easier for me if I could steal" to be a valid argument. Copyrighted works are protected from unauthorized use by law. They must remain so. I oppose this action plan and any other action plan which carves out AI companies as having limitless permission to use the copyrighted work of others without compensating them.
