General Comment

I am an educated woman, a teacher, and I consider myself well-read on the subject of LLMs and generative AI--I am also friends with a number of artists. As a result, I oppose any AI-friendly legislation, memoranda, or executive orders. Generative AI companies such as OpenAI has admitted that they cannot be profitable without stealing from real artists, and this cannot be borne. These programs that allegedly produce art and other things merely hallucinate as you feed them stolen material and an absurd amount of precious resources. It's a technological dead-end. Do not humor it any longer.

Sincerely,

Clarity Morrison
