General Comment

By eating ourselves alive we are giving China exactly what they want. Even ignoring the ethical debates on this move we are only attempting to win a shoving match to brute force China and challenging them by doing this. With their resources they have already proven an ability to outdo us, if we lose this we lose a major fight that we ourselves openly picked and will deal a major blow to the American people by being shown up on the world theater. If we win this we have to figure out a way to do it that goes beyond trying to do what they are.
