General Comment

This will essentially legalize theft and make copyright a thing of the past. Not only does this steal from actual people's hard work to produce a much worse imitation, but it is far from being 'intelligent', and relies on what is already out there in order to produce its much worse, often incorrect and sometimes dangerously so product. AI is a grift and AI companies only contribute to the enshittification of the internet, making it less reliable and usable day by day. This plan should not be put into place.
