General Comment

This is giving corporate exemption from copyright law. Let's say you let Disney do something similar. They could just steal from any smaller artist or writer and make mass produced garbage with it. Had an original idea for a movie? You're never gonna make a dime off it. Or a gaming company like Ubisoft. Had a good idea and made an indie demo with Godot or something? It's going to be stolen. Not that they don't already steal things, or use AI, but I'm making a point.
