General Comment

I've made art all my life (I'm 59), paintings, music, and fiction. After looking into it, AI is theft, plain and simple. It violates all ethical and reasonable bounds of copyright. I cannot fight these huge billion-dollar companies, but they should not be able to take what they want without payment, or accreditation. I expect they will be allowed to (as I have lost complete faith in the United States of America to do the right thing) and that will be a sad day for us all.
