General Comment

No one wants this, except the tech-bro oligarchy that spent far too much money developing AI & fleeced the government to invest in it. AI is not something end users want forced upon them. Simply review the numbers of end users who have opted out of Apple Intelligence, Copilot, ChatGPT, etc.

AI damages artists ability to create without worry of non-remuneration or works being stolen. AI already raises considerable privacy, copyright, & online safety concerns that have yet to be resolved. AI creates an almost catastrophic environmental cost. The development path of AI is accelerating at an exponential rate without any sort of curbs placed to guide it & will result in uncontrolled & uncontrollable systems that could result in economic disaster (job losses, market volatility, etc.), privacy violations, bias promotion & automation of weapons systems.
