General Comment

I am strictly against this request for the Biden Administration's restrictions on the AI industry to be lifted. Not only does this undo a great step towards properly regulating Generative AI, it also removes the ability for Artists and other copyright holders to sue OpenAI and any other Generative AI company who takes advantage of this of copyright infringement, creating a terrible precedent for artistic works in the future. If this goes into effect, art as a whole in America will be gutted in favor for Generated Slop which uses stolen works to fuel its own 'creativity'.

In short, we need restrictions on these Generative AI companies and models before they go out of hand and kill human expression outright.
