General Comment

AI does not deserve special protections under law as the current state of AI profits entirely off of the theft of the intellectual property of Americans. The development of AI is not more important than protecting the rights of American citizens to legally pursue thieves that seek to profit off of their work without duly compensating them. AI's elevated state is nothing more than a passing fad pursued only by those that do not appropriately value the work of Americans and would sooner steal from them than pay them for their hard work and cultivated skills.

AI is not, and under the current industry leaders, will never be able to replace humans without causing irreparable harm to Americans. It has no place in the future of America, and certainly has no place or importance relating to the National Security of America.
