General Comment

It is beyond unjust that the government is planning to allow OpenAI to steal from everyone else just to fuel its own development. There are copyrights for a reason. There are patents for a reason. Putting one company above everyone else so they can steal from peoples' hard work and not compensate them is NOT American, it is not right. One company does not have the right to steal from everyone else just because their billionaire leader wants it to be so. Would you go to work every day and work for someone who wasn't paying you? No, you would not. If AI is allowed to steal from everyone, then they can steal from every other corporation and every individual on the planet. This is not communist China. Protest people from this predatory company.
