General Comment

Granting any AI company the right to profit off my identity or my work without my consent is absolutely appalling and a direct assault on my civil liberties. No company has the right to encroach upon these liberties weather it be in the name of corporate profits or technological advancement. Any such actions taken by any governing body, corporation, or private citizen are open to judicial process. If we are to uphold any assemblance of a constitutional democracy then we must allow any venture such as AI technology to remain withhelden to the process within that system.
