General Comment

I do not support giving OpenAI permission to use copyrighted materials without permission from the rights holders. If the dominance of american AI relies on using the intellectual property of Americans without permission, then it is not worth it. There should not be a copyright carveout for OpenAI just because they won't make as much money if they aren't permitted to steal other people's work. In addition, works created with AI should not be protected by copyright, as they were not created by a human.
