General Comment

The only way this technology can exist is to steal from actual artists. AI companies have brazenly ignored copyright laws and fed their machines with the entire history of human art, and will now use that information to undercut human beings. Actual alive artists who make living creating art. It's in companies interest to make products for as little as possible, and with this technology it is their hope to do away with having to hire human beings at all. Please do allow this illegal and devastating behavior to be codified into law.
