General Comment

I'm a professional artist and my job is currently threatened by generative AI. AI companies should not have impunity to break copyright law. Unfortunately some of my art has already been incorporated into the LAION-5 data set which has been used to "train" (copy) AII. A number of the pieces that have been stolen are commercial illustrations I have created for large companies such as Disney, Warner Bros and more, which also infringes on their copyright. Generative AI is just mass theft that is already costing people their jobs.
