General Comment

This is the situation that science fiction stories have warned us about for decades. Do not allow AI companies to steal unimpeded from human creators. AI is ruining multiple industries, Microsoft itself performed a study that proved it was destroying our brains and ability to think critically, and we should not allow tech companies to continue to trample real human creativity in the name of profit. This is a dangerous precedent to set and I wholeheartedly encourage our government to block any further theft from AI companies.
