General Comment

As an artist, as an illustrator, this is nothing but theft. I agree with my many fellow artists that this is not fair use and is directly infringing upon our rights and our ability to use our finely honed craft practiced over years and years and years to make a profit. If it takes me a lifetime to develop a style that works and is profitable and it takes a random AI bro less than a day to feed all the publicly available work I've done into an algorithm to steal from me- that's a huge theft.
