General Comment

AI has no business being supported by US law unless US law would like to openly condone theft. So many artists have already had their livelihoods damaged by these hucksters pretending AI is anything other than a machine that is made to plagerize anything it is fed.

This is not even accounting for the damage it is doing to the environment in an already dangerous time in climate change.

Even if you don't care about that, if you have children or grandchildren, this is something that will effect them if it isn't already. Please do not support AI rights. It's ridiculous that the argument has gotten this far already and a truly dark time for US legislation if you let this pass.
