General Comment

Hello,

I am an author. My entire life is oriented around crafting stories and art for young readers. I have seen first-hand the power of storytelling, and I have had the honor of witnessing lives changed by the pursuit of art and articulation.

I absolutely detest the cowardly thinking that has lead people to believing AI is a worthwhile tool for the creation of art. It has no place in the future of the US, or any country that recognizes the value in a brilliant and creatively-enabled citizenship. Even if the technology could generate something truly original, it would still only be because of it's vapid plagiarism of human-made art and ingenuity, meaning no AI-art can be considered original, ethical, or even interesting.

Americans are being tricked by people with no foresight, no morals, and--worst of all--no taste. We do not want these companies to steal more than they already have.
