General Comment

Generative AI is a bubble on the verge of popping, pouring taxpayer money into this will be a gross waste of funds. Beyond that, it will be a horrible look for the administration to declare a big budget for a new thing while actively slashing existing fundamental services like USPS and NWS.

Also, no modern generative AI has been ethically trained, AI creations cannot be copyrighted, it's obscenely expensive to run in terms of electricity and water to cool the servers, and whatever you want an AI to do I guarantee humans can do it better. AI does not understand, humans do
