General Comment

"AI" is neither artificial nor is it in any way intelligent. It is a plagiarism machine that's been secretly fed millions of copyrighted works from HUMAN BEINGS. It lack any understanding of human emotions or interests or fears or dreams. It has zero understanding of love or loss or fear or longing. It generates nothing of any genuine resonance with any human soul.

It CAN do great things in analyzing huge datasets and finding patterns, but it has NO place in creating anything like art or literature our music or stories or any other expression of human creativity.

HUMAN creators must be protected from the strip-mining of their work by faceless corporations hell-bent on destroying this aspect of our existence.

Limit AI to controlled use as an analytical tool, while restricting its use for generating "original" content (via theft and plagiarism).
