General Comment

I do not believe AI has any moral or ethical means of supporting itself, and I do not believe a case has been made for what practical use it could have that merits the destruction of so much human cultural production. It is a narrow-minded technology that only concerns itself with speculation that builds on top of theft and abuse of power. So much harm has been done, and will be done, if OpenAI is allowed to run rampant. Please do not give one corporate entity the ability to claim ownership over the digital existence of all of humanity.
