General Comment

If Open AI wants to train on Copyrighted works, they need to PAY FOR IT. IT IS THEFT IF THEY DON'T. I'm failing to see why this is so hard to comprehend. They steal the words and art of people, and then they make money off of it.

There is no security threat that will be solved by stealing from creatives. It is ridiculous to think that. And if such a threat exists, then maybe some of that defense budget money could be used to compensate artists and writers FAIRLY for their work being used.
