General Comment

AI is a bubble that is massively unprofitable. Most end users are not adopting it despite big tech's best efforts to shove it in everything. Banks and investment firms are leaving. If you hate government waste, you should hate protecting a useless industry that the free market is rejecting.

Also, why do we want to protect something that writes paragraphs that are wrong about everything 40% of the time and has no practical industrial use? Next are we going to spend billions to protect domestic production of designer unicycles for paraplegics?
