General Comment

Hi.

This is insanely stupid.

Like jesus christ.

Full sweeping immunity for OpenAI to all copyright related lawsuits is probably one of the dumbest things you could possibly do in a country/world that runs on copyright law.

If OpenAI is granted this immunity then OpenAI also needs to made a purely government owned and operated company and same for any other AI that benefits from this.

Also are you guys seriously using the "national security" argument here? Really? Is it also going to save the kids? Ridiculous.

Also also this will not promote "human flourishing." We've already seen AI, which was promised not to steal jobs, steal jobs. So this is the exact opposite of human flourishing in a society that requires people to have jobs to live.

Absolutely stupid. These people should all be in jail.

ALSO also also where the hell did the BILLIONS of dollars that these companies were given go? What have they possibly been spending it on other than a third yacht? Deepseek absolutely destroyed these companies with inferior hardware yet you expect us to believe that you need more money and sweeping protections?

These companies should be destroyed and the owners should be in jail.

Of course we're getting our butts handed to us by China. They've been investing in the younger generations for decades while the U.S. has been taking away education.

Fresh water should not ever be used in the cooling of any systems related to computers or technology on a commercial/government scale.

Our country is dying of thirst because all of our water is getting used by these chuds.

Absolutely every bit of information needs to be forced to be open source.

AI should NEVER be used by the military, navy, air force, police, etc. AI is garbage at telling humans apart. We've already seen AI CONSTANTLY make up complete nonsense and incorrectly "identify" suspects who committed crimes. Once there is no longer a human pulling the trigger (which right now there is BARELY human intervention even though, again, we were promised that AI would never be killing people) the world will fall apart.

Everyone who thinks this is a good idea is either one of the dumbest people on the planet or a money hungry sack of garbage.
