General Comment

I believe AI holds no place in our american future, as it stifles the creative spirit of american artists. This includes and is not limited to writers, 2D artists, animators, 3D artists, and musicians. It also has a negative impact in our education being both undermonitored, and abused by students to bypass educational requirements. AI profits off of theft of human creation, and allowing it to steal further from artists will only discourage them from creating art any further. This will do no good put foreign nations ahead of us in creativity, in education, and in production of media
