General Comment

Generative AI and all future developments of this technology need to be held accountable and responsible via regulation. Already we are seeing misuse and mishandling of this tech for use in misinformation and scams, and this usage will continue to worsen if private AI companies are not held responsible for what can and cannot be produced with their tech. Additionally, it has already been proven that this tech was developed and trained using mostly copyrighted materials, as well as the real likenesses (vocal and visual) of persons alive and deceased. To allow the continued use of this tech we need to make sure companies are sourcing their libraries of what their models are trained on ethically and with the consent of all parties. Otherwise we are allowing mass theft of individual work, creativity, and in some cases identity. This cannot continue.
