General Comment

against Executive Order 14179

Creatives went into their fields with an agreement from the government in place; their work will belong to them until they sold the rights to their labor to specific parties and under specific arrangements that they are able to refuse. It's the basic premise of labor. Copyright exists to incentivize creatives to create, its base purpose is to ensure we are not competing with our own work in the marketplace. Generative AI uses our work to compete with us directly.
