General Comment

I am a Canadian citizen who posts words and images on the internet. OpenAI has almost certainly illegally scraped my data before. What this request by the thieves in question is for would jeopardize my personal use of the internet and any other international user. Which means that if it goes through, my only recourse would be to go to my government and get international sanctions, lawsuits, and other restrictions put on the US for their illegal and active promotion of theft.

AI is deeply anti-human at its core. It is morally bankrupt. All uses are wrong and all promotion is based on theft.
