General Comment

This is theft, allowing AI to use artwork made by countless artists without their consent let alone knowledge as training data so it can churn out soulless slop for a corporate machine to replace their creative talent, and inch up the bottom line is immoral and shameful! To take a whole ocean of work which people have poured their very spirit into without even having the decency to financially compensate them for their contributions is unjust to an unfathomable degree! You people "If you can even be called such a thing" are avaricious parasites who feed off of the dreams and aspirations of virtuosos, and creatives who contribute more value to this world than you could ever hope to. You sicken me, and if you have any shred of humanity you WILL terminate this action plan.
