General Comment

Giving anyone outright access to another's work without recompense or asking permission is theft. There are no two ways about it. Allowing AI owned by anyone to rape the field of human-created work diminishes any human that has ever strived to create. There is no benefit to the creators of music, visual art, literature or any other kind of work. This includes most of the humans living in this country. Allowing AI to digest the creations of hard working, struggling people devalues human life itself. There is no reason such a bill should ever be considered, let alone passed.
