General Comment

Hi. I'm an artist living in New Jersey.

I struggle to make ends meet, but I still love doing what I do, which is to draw something. Because that's all I'll have when everything's done and done. AI, GenAI, whatever this debacle calls itself, is another way for the average working American to suffer. And for what? Art made without sincerity, honesty, and effort, just for haphazardly put together schlock that's built and stolen from hardworking artists that simply want to get things done. No one's speaking for us, so it's the least I can do here. Please consider not allowing corporations to grind out whatever leftover juices we have for cheap, mediocre product that has no virtuous benefits for society as a whole.
